5th Hike in U.S. Pay in Four Years

By BARRY SCHWEID
WASHINGTON (AP) — It was with evident concern that President Johnson signed the new federal pay raise bill last week, the fifth pay hike voted federal workers by Congress within four years.

For the most part, the $540-million annual pay increase, a 2.9 per cent boost, fell within the White House's suggested wage-price guidelines. But by beginning the pay boosts July 1, six months earlier than he had recommended, Johnson said Congress had added $500 million to his 1967 budget.

"These outlays begin at once, and they begin at a most critical time when we are striving to restrain inflationary pressures," the President said.

But more to the point, he signed the bill into law, said it would help "attract and retain the talent and excellence needed to conduct the complex affairs of government," and continued the steady upward spiral of government pay.

Johnson is firmly committed to the principle laid down by Congress in the federal salary reform law of 1962 — that, as he said in his federal pay message to Congress last March, "government workers are entitled to a pay scale which compares favorably with pay in private industry."

Since 1961 federal pay has increased by about 19 per cent, about 15 per cent of this since Johnson took office. The pay raises of October 1962, January 1964, July 1964, October 1965 and the latest one boosted government pay by almost $2.8 billion annually.

The emphasis has been on the lower brackets, the clerical and administrative help who make up the bulk of the 1.8 million covered federal workers, with the result that the pay in these brackets is now generally comparable to industry's.

But despite sizable jumps at the higher levels, industry evidently is ahead on the top rungs, by a considerable margin. For example: the average pay at grade 15, the top professional level though there are three super grades above, is $19,371 while industry pay for comparable jobs, according to government figures, is $22,708.

The government's efforts to try to keep pace over-all and edge toward comparable pay is illustrated by the average percentage increases the five pay hikes brought the 1.1 million government white collar workers — 5.5, 4.1, 4.2, 3.6 and 2.9.

Most recent government figures show, however, that from 1961 through early 1966, accountants in private industry gained a pay increase of 13 per cent, auditors 14.2 per cent, attorneys 16.2, personnel directors 15.6, chemists 15.8, engineers

Obituaries

MRS. AMANDA HUGHES
Funeral services for Mrs. Amanda Josephine Hughes will be held at 10 a.m. Saturday, in Saratoga, at the Church of Christ, with M.H. Peebles and Mr. Woodrow Plyler officiating. Interment will be at Saratoga Cemetery by Oakcrest Mortuary.

MRS. MARGARET PHILLIPS
Mrs. Margaret Phillips, 86, long-time resident of Hempstead County, died in a local hospital yesterday. She is survived by two sons, Fred Phillips of Benton, and Frank Phillips of Hurst, Texas.

Funeral services will be at 10 a.m. Saturday in Herndon-Cornelius Chapel. Grave side services will be at 2 p.m. in Idabel, Okla.

CARL M. CORNELIUS
Carl M. Cornelius, 52, of Hope died suddenly early today. He is survived by his wife, Sophia; one son, Carl M. Cornelius, Jr., Hope; four brothers, Beck Cornelius, Hope, Ernest Cornelius, Forney, Wayne, Ind.; Hubert and D. June Cornelius, both of Hope. Funeral services will be at 2:30 p.m. Sunday at Calvary Baptist Church, with burial in Falcon Cemetery by Herndon-Cornelius Funeral Home.

13.7 and clerical workers 11.2. Preliminary data for the year through early 1966 indicate an additional over-all boost of close to 3 per cent.

Judging by these figures, Presidents Kennedy and Johnson and Congress took big strides toward keeping pace with the pay boosts in industry. But a lag remains toward the top, primarily because government pay historically was behind that of the private sector of the economy.

Johnson has not tipped his hand about the future. But it is a safe guess he will be influenced by the inflationary heating up of the economy, provided it is not dispelled by the time he makes his next request.

For, as he warned government workers in signing the new pay bill, higher salaries bring little benefit "if the purchasing power of your dollar is eroded by inflation."

Finan, Moylan and Mayor Theodore R. McKeldin announced the legal action after a one-hour meeting in the office of City Solicitor Joseph Allen with Police Commissioner George M. Gelston and legal aides.

Police had Thursday night's situation in hand in about two hours but beefed up patrols roamed through the area into the morning.

Baltimore has been labeled as the target city for 1966 by the Congress of Racial Equality, but CORE rallies have attracted only small audiences.

In comparison, Thursday night's rally by the National States Rights party at Patterson Park drew a crowd estimated at about 1,000. The group had been denied permission earlier to use the park, but speakers stood on top of a sound truck parked in the street as their audience spilled over the grassy slopes.

The sporadic trouble that plagued the southeast Baltimore area until late Thursday night began shortly after the rally sound trucks closed down about 8 p.m.

As the crowd broke up, a cluster of white youths surrounded Robert Kaufman, a self-proclaimed Socialist, and about a dozen of his companions. Police quickly formed a cordon around them and escorted them from the area, but eggs were tossed and before the group had gotten a block away, the crowd had grown larger, louder and more belligerent.

Riot police and officers with dogs were rushed to the scene. Plainclothesmen, who had been mingling with the crowd dressed in dirty T-shirts and jeans began pinning on badges.

The show of force stopped any immediate threat of violence, but the mob broke up into smaller groups and began ranging through side streets and into predominantly Negro areas.

One Negro boy walking his dog was set upon by a group of about 100 whites and knocked to the ground before police rescued him.

White men rode in two cars into a block of Negro residences, shouting racial slurs. When the cars were stopped by traffic at an intersection, Negro residents hurled bottles at the cars. But traffic began moving again and the cars moved on. No one was hurt.

A squad of Negro plainclothesmen was sent to dissuade Negroes from taking further ### action.

Before the gangs were dispersed, police had arrested several persons.

The States Rights party had held rallies at the park Monday night and again Wednesday night. The Wednesday night rally erupted into several incidents involving white youths attacked a Negro and surged around a car carrying CORE demonstrators from the scene.

It was this rally that prompted City Park Superintendent Edgar Myerly to revoke the party's permit to use Patterson Park Thursday night.

At Thursday night's rally, speaker, Richard Norton, who identified himself as the Maryland land coordinator of the States Rights party, criticized what he said were Negro agitators behind the Cleveland riots and told the crowd that if "they come in here and start sending Negro gangs into white neighborhoods, get out your guns and take to the streets."

Voice of Woman Goes Out to Sea

By BOB HORTON
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy may soon send a woman to sea in its submarines — electronically, that is.

"Although submarine wives were not consulted, this female presence aboard submarines should not be resented," the Navy reported with a straight face today.

After all, she is only a recording designed to sound words of warning automatically when danger threatens seamen.

The woman's voice — "sultry" is the way the Navy described it — may replace such submarine alarms as blinking red lights, honks, buzzes and

These signals, far less appealing to the masculine senses, alert a submarine operator to take action in case of high-pressure seawater flooding, fire or serious power failure.

"A real attention-getter is needed for extremely dangerous situations," the Navy said.

Then it said: "In view of the well-established responsiveness of Navy men to the female voice, among other things, the new system is expected to be highly successful."

What will the voice say? "Fire! Fire! There is a fire in the crew's mess," and "Flooding! Flooding! There is serious flooding in the after steering room," were examples supplied ### by the Navy.

The Navy did not explain how a voice can be "sultry" and still manage to impart to the male listener an urgency to carry out the Navy did disclose the voice will be that of Joan Ririe, night. The Wednesday night rally erupted into several incidents involving white youths attacked a Negro and surged around a car carrying CORE demonstrators from the scene.

She was described as a professional recorder for Northerns as well as a part-time singer and former actress. With gentlemanly restraint, the Navy withheld her age.

The prerecorded warning speech will be checked out in the near future aboard an operational sub. Once satisfactorily evaluated, the voice will be installed aboard all of the Navy's 150 operational subs, a spokesman said.

Dior Dodges Sky-High Skirt Style

By LUCIE NOEL
AP Fashion Writer

PARIS (AP) — Christian Dior marched out a winter fashion collection with striking British inspiration today but shunned the thigh-high mini-skirt.

Hemlines for wool greatcoats, recalling the guards at Buckingham Palace, plunged to calf length. On some of the dresses the hemline fell in a kinked point to one side. Other skirts swung at knee length, but never bared the thigh.

Applause swept through the Dior salon as many in the crowd thought designer Marc Bohan's startling treatment of hemlines on coats and some dresses would eventually mark the end for crazily rising skirts.

Bohan opened his collection with four models wearing wool greatcoats dropped to calf length. These were worn over knee-length, two-piece costumes or dresses.

In another treatment, the hemline dropped in kinked points on one side. This motif ran through all of the evening dresses, many cocktail dresses and black numbers.

Sword belts and scarlet uniform jackets worn with contrasting green or gray skirts went under those calf-length greatcoats. He repeated the theme and again in variations and color contrasts.

From Hyde Park, Bohan picked up many capes that were longer than calf length. For evening they dropped to the floor, but he did them for round the clock.

The collection called forth cries of ecstasy and applause from the entire audience. It is probably the best Bohan has designed since he took over for Dior.

12-Year-Old Has Grant to 'Figure on'

By PHIL BROWN

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Mike Grost is one 12-year-old with no summer vacation problem of, "Hey, Mom, what is there to do?" The National Science Foundation grants him $30 a week to do mathematical research.

It is a program to encourage college students, and that is what Mike is — almost an all-A student at that.

Mike who just completed his sophomore year at Michigan State University's Honors College, plugged quietly along among 35,000 other students at the East Lansing campus, studying calculus, physics, religion, French and computer science.

He received only two grades of B — one in French and one in religion — to go with an otherwise straight-A record.

Faculty advisers, who first watched to see if the decision to admit Mike to college at age 10 was correct, no longer show such concern.

They are careful not to influence him toward any one career field.

His classmates exerted a bit of influence on him last spring, suggesting he make a try at athletics.

Mike agreed and moved into the perfect spot for a crew-cut 100-pounder — coxswain for an intramural racing shell.

Mike was the youngest known freshman in the United States since 1886. He could receive a master's degree before he is old enough to drive, and a doctorate at an age when many students are just entering college.

Mike's father, William Grost of Lansing, says that it is unimportant whether Mike receives his bachelor's degree at age 14. He and his wife, Audrey, would rather see him proceed slowly, taking extra courses and exploring new fields.

As a junior, Mike has to pick a major field and has decided on physical science.

He has been working with Dr. Fritz Herzog, a mathematics professor, to catch up on some steps he missed by not taking high school math. He has taken a series of advanced calculus courses.

He also is working 20 hours a week on the National Science Foundation summer program, designed to teach research methods to college undergraduates.

"I'm enjoying it," said Mike. "It's not at all like work."

The short summer work week was designed to give Mike time for recreation with his family and friends his age.

Television and Radio

By PAT CROWLEY

For Cynthia Lowry
EDITOR'S NOTE — Kids and animals — they are the traditional scene-stealing enemies of adult actors. Pat Crowley, playing the mother of four cute boys plus the biggest, most lovable dog this side of the Alps, in "Please Don't Eat the Daisies," insists she enjoys the competition.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — I never worry about being upstaged in "Please Don't Eat the Daisies." For the uninitiated, upstaging in acting is stealing scenes from other actors on stage with you. There have been many classic examples, but a typical one would be flipping a coin while a performer is reciting off a long speech. Pretty soon the audience wonders when you'll drop the coin and pays no attention to the performer.

Many of my performer friends think I'm crazy when I say I'm not concerned about being upstaged in my television show because there are children and a dog in the cast. It's an old show biz axiom that actors should never work with kids or animals.

The reason I don't worry about it is that it doesn't happen. Television has no room for upstagers. If a performer sneaks in a move that does detract from another performer, the film cutter simply snips the footage out of the finished picture.

Sometimes one of the boys, or even Ladadog, will do something that is especially funny.

Granted, you might call it upstaging, but if it is very funny it enhances the show and, believe me, I'm not against anything that will help a show. In television you do 32 shows and you need everything going for you that you can muster.

And let's face it, without the kids in "Please Don't Eat the Daisies," you don't have a series. They were the inspiration for the book that led to the movie that resulted in the television version.

There is still another reason why I don't worry about the kids or Ladadog upstaging me. I honestly believe that the whole business of upstaging is more fancy than fact. You seldom see it on the legitimate stage today. Perhaps it's because performers are more concerned with the vehicle than themselves. I don't know.

But I do know that actors who try it are more concerned with themselves than their profession or other individuals. And I also know that if someone tried it on our show the director would be quick to stop it.

Word's Origin

Origin of the word "boycott" stems from the name of Capt. Charles Boycott, an English land agent in the 1880s, who was so harsh with Irish tenants that they refused to have anything to do with Boycott or his family.

Bob Thomas at the Movies

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) —

There's plenty of oomph in the girl yet, as Ann Sheridan amply demonstrates on the set of the new television series, "Pistols and Petticoats."

Ann would like not to be reminded that she was dubbed the oomph girl back in the giddy 1930s, when press agents could get away with that sort of thing. She managed to survive such a cognomen and go on to become a serviceable leading lady for Errol Flynn ("Dodge City"), Humphrey Bogart ("They Drive by Night"), Gary Cooper ("Good Sam") and Cary Grant ("I Was a Male War Bride").

Hollywood hasn't seen much of Ann Sheridan in recent times, so it behooved an alert reporter to find out what had been happening to her. For one thing, she is a bride. Last month she wed her longtime beau, actor Scott McKay.

"Just got back from a marvelous honeymoon in Hawaii," she reported. "We were supposed to stay two weeks, but we stretched it to three. Meanwhile everyone was screaming. I was due back to start the series, and Scott was supposed to be in the East to direct and appear with Nancy Palmer and then Julia Meade in 'Mary, Mary' for summer stock."

It was just eight years ago that Ann turned her back on Hollywood to try her luck on the stage. She said she had been encouraged to do so by producer Ross Hunter, who wanted her to star in a property called "Vermillion O'Toole" first on Broadway and then in films.

The project never reached the theater, but Ann did. She toured in "Kind Sir," and her leading man was Scott McKay. That was the start of a romance complicated by the fact that he already had a wife. Ann continued to make her home in New York, appearing in the theater and on television, most recently in the soap opera, "Another World."

Frankly 50, Ann retains her oldtime allure, and she photographs strikingly in color for "Pistols and Petticoats," which will follow Jackie Gleason on CBS Saturday night.

IT'S YOUR MOVE

Dear Helen: We have lived here for three months and in this time I have only met one of my neighbors. I never saw such an unfriendly place!

My husband is just out of the marine Corps where he served his country and protected these people who won't even say a little 'hello'.

When we first moved into a military establishment, all the wives came to greet us and help us in any way. In no time, I was "one of them," invited to coffee, bridge, swims, golf, etc.

But as civilians? Nobody wants us.

Is it my place to go to my neighbors and introduce myself? Frankly I'm afraid of being snubbed. — D. M. L.

Dear D: In many places, instant neighborliness is a succumbed to "busyness," disinterest, and — most of all — mobility. With everyone on the move (or so it seems when you read that some 25 per cent of the population change residences about once a year) the block will scarcely get excited about "the new family down the street." You're one of many.

Nowadays you new people can't sit back and wait for the welcoming committee any more than a new employee can be accepted on the job without proving himself. You have to work at becoming a part of your area.

So go ahead and introduce yourself. Best approach? Take walks or bike rides, stop and talk to anyone gardening out front. You'll be surprised at the friendly response from at least three-fourths of your neighbors — once you break the ice. — H.

Dear Helen: I've never written to a newspaper before, but the letter about thoughtless people intrigued me.

I know a woman who is the biggest sucker in this "What's in it for me?" world.

She is a smart, cultured career woman in her 50's, working in an office with 75 others. Somehow, without prying, she has learned the birthdays of all the employees, and here's where the 100 percent sucker comes in.

When the date shows up, you can bet there will be a cake, or a card with a little gift on your desk, all with the least amount of fanfare to herself. It's lovely to be remembered, but...

In this age of grabbing, why does she use up her time and strength which she could be using to do something for herself? — Another Helen

Dear Helen: She is doing something for herself, for she's discovered the truth in the saying, "You can never make just ONE person happy — the other is always you." — H.

Dear Helen: The lady who was ill with the heart attack and no one visited: it can sure happen. I was ill for six weeks, the ambulance came and took me to the hospital, and my neighbors never knew. I was raised by parents who taught me, "Don't air your troubles, everyone has troubles of their own." I didn't resent what this lady calls "cruelty." If you want visitors, you must let them know about it, in these busy days. — Faith

Dear Helen: This is to "Quiet One" who has the problem of not being "lovey." I, too, was raised in a very cold family. Until I was married no one in my family had ever given me a hug or a kiss. I determined it would be different in mine. It was very difficult, but the easiest way to show your love is with a sense of humor and not when you are all alone — at first. If you put your arms around your husband every time you run into him around the house and say something silly, soon you can progress to expressing the serious, deeply affectionate things. Do this also with the children. They need the physical demonstrations of love to be truly happy.

My husband died two years ago. I thank God every day I have my small children to hug and kiss, for I, who was raised without love, couldn't live without it now. — Missing Him

Coker Turns Fights Last Night Tide for Cincinnati

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer
Cincinnati's third-string catcher has switched from morale-booster to fence-buster and the Reds are turning the corner in the National League scramble.

Jim Coker, a forgotten man in Cincinnati for two years, belted a grand-slam homer Thursday night as the Reds continued their upswing with a 7-5 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

The Reds have won eight of their last 10 games and 10 of 16 since Dave Bristol replaced Don Heffner as manager two weeks ago after an 11-game losing streak toppled them into eighth place.

Coker, the club's No. 1 cheer-leader and No. 3 receiver — behind John Edwards and Don Pavletich — since 1964, has caught in 10 games during the Reds' revival and has homered in two of the last three. He had only one home run before connecting Tuesday night against the Cubs and had hit just three for the Reds prior to this season.

"It's a good feeling when you come to the ball park knowing you have a chance to play," said the 29-year-old catcher, who appeared in 11 games last season and 24 the previous year. Despite the inactivity, Coker never lost his enthusiasm — or sense of humor. "Coker keeps everybody loose," says Bristol. "He says the right thing at the right times."

While Coker's second career grand slam powered the Reds past the Cubs, the streaking St. Louis Cardinals, led by hot-hitting Orlando Cepeda, outscored Atlanta 7-5 in the only other NL games scheduled. The victory was St. Louis' fourth straight and 10th in 11 games.

Chicago edged Detroit 2-1 in the only American League action. Kansas City and Boston were rained out.

Coker's bases-loaded blast off Curt Simmons capped a five-run explosion in the first inning. The Reds added two runs in the third when Tommy Helms doubled for his seventh consecutive hit and Deron Johnson cracked his 12th homer.

Cepeda, the league's No. 2 hitter, lifted his batting average to .337 and extended his hitting streak to 12 games with a double and homer as the Cardinals climbed into fourth place, seven games off the pace.

The St. Louis first baseman triggered a five-run rally in the second inning with his 17th homer, helping Bob Gibson pick up his 13th victory. Gibson left in the eighth with a sore elbow after yielding five hits and the Braves closed the gap with three runs in the inning.

Two-run trips by Dal Maxvill and Lou Brock capped the Cardinals' second-inning burst.

Don Buford doubled across the tie-breaking run for Chicago in the third inning against Tiger ace Denny McLain, who took his fourth straight defeat since the All-Star game. Jack Lamabe, with late-inning relief help from Bob Locker, registered his fifth victory in 11 decisions.

LONDON (AP)—A worldwide television audience will see Saturday's World Soccer Cup final between England and West Germany.

The game—the climax of a three-week tournament involving 16 national teams—will be shown live in 29 countries including the United States.

Another 30 countries will see video-tape recordings of the match later.

The British Broadcasting Corp. estimated 400 million will watch on TV Saturday.

Bookies made England a 4-7 odds-on favorite, West Germany which won the trophy in 1954, carried odds of 11 to 8 against.

West Memphis Is Babe Ruth Winner

CROSSETT, Ark. (AP)—West Memphis rode the two-hit pitching of Charlie Forbes to the Babe Ruth League baseball state championship Thursday.

West Memphis defeated Fort Smith 4-1, with Buddy Warner getting two hits and Randy Caldwell belting a triple for the winners.

The 1967 tournament will be held at West Memphis.

Miss Haynie Goes Into 2nd Round

LONDON, Ont. (AP)— Sandra Haynie of Fort Worth, Tex., carried a one-stroke lead into today's second round of the $15,000 LPGA Golf Tournament today.

Miss Haynie shot a three-under-par 69 Thursday for the opening-day lead over Carol Mann of Buffalo, N.Y., and Kathy Whitworth of San Antonio, Tex. Miss Mann fired a 36-70 and Miss Whitworth said the 29-year-old catcher, who appeared in 11 games last season and 24 the previous year.

Despite the inactivity, Coker never lost his enthusiasm — or sense of humor. "Coker keeps everybody loose," says Bristol. "He says the right thing at the right times."

The 54-hole tournament, first on the LPGA tour to be played outside the United States, is worth $2,250 to the winner and $1,750 for second place.

Atlanta's Falcon's to Play Eagles

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

The state of Georgia brings in the high-priced talent today to exhort the Atlanta Falcons on to victory in the new club's first game, an exhibition contest against the Philadelphia Eagles.

No less a figure than Gov. Carl E. Sanders plans to visit the Falcons' training camp at Black Mountain, N.C., have dinner with the team and watch practice Saturday.

Atlanta Coach Norb Hecker emphasized kickoffs and punt returns Thursday during the club's workouts and said he might use rookie flanker John Pincavage, who arrived in camp Thursday from the Detroit Lions, as a kick-return specialist against the Eagles.

Philadelphia, meanwhile, suspended its morning drills because Coach Joe Kuharich is afraid of overworking his players.

"We are in a point of training now where you get that element of fatigue, Kuharich said.

Washington Redskins Coach Otto Graham got his first look Thursday and liked what he saw.

"He's just a great runner," Graham said of the 1964 Rookie of the Year. "If I could use him on every play, a lot of my worries would be over."

There was little progress toward resolving any of the salary disputes plaguing several teams in both the National and American Leagues.

John Brodie's holdout against San Francisco continued and Coach Jack Christiansen plans to use George Mura in the 49ers' exhibition opener Aug. 7.

Bruce Mahar, Detroit Lions safetyman, became the fifth player on the club to walk out of the team's training camp. He and the Lions are reportedly $1,500 apart in contract negotiations.

Mahar joins flanker Pat Studstill in the walkout department. The others who left camp earlier, John Cordy, Darris McCord and Roger Brown, have rejoined the club. Another holdout, Ted Karras, is home in Chicago.

Travelers Make It 7 in a Row

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Arkansas rolled to its seventh straight Texas League baseball victory Thursday night, a 2-0 triumph over Austin.

The Travelers, getting five-hit pitching from southpaw Frank Montgomery, extended their lead over second place Amarillo to 5½ games.

Amarillo lost to Dallas-Fort Worth 5-0 while Albuquerque stopped El Paso 7-6 in other Texas League action Thursday.

It was Montgomery's third straight shutout victory against Austin, extending his scoreless inning string to 24.

Swim Chiefs Extend Bid to Chinese

By TOM SEPPY

WASHINGTON (AP)—The World Professional Marathon Swimming Federation says the welcome mat is out for Mao Tse-tung only if he's a swimmer — not a floater.

Following Mao's much-publicized dip in the Yangtze, the federation invited him to enter two 10-mile races to be held in Canada.

The official New China News Agency reported last weekend that the Chinese Communist leader, 72, swam nine miles in the choppy Yangtze on July 16.

Peking distributed a picture of the party chief with some fellow swimmers. It made a big splash on many front pages.

The swimming federation's invitation to Mao was extended by Carlos Larriera of Argentina, president of the group. He invited Mao to enter races scheduled for this weekend in Hamilton, Ont., and in Quebec City on Aug. 13.

"We are told you swam nine miles on July 16 in the excellent time of 1 hour, 5 minutes," wrote Larriera. "This should put you in line for championships in both events, since the record for the 10-mile Quebec swim, set last year by one of the fastest swimmers in the world, Herman Willemsse of Holland, was 4 hours, 35 minutes."

Guilio Travaglio of Italy established in February a record of 3 hours, 56 minutes for the 10-mile Lake El Quilla race in Argentina, Larriera said.

A federation spokesman said today that since the letter was made public, several persons have suggested that Mao might have been able to lower the world record because of strong currents in the Yangtze River.

The Navy said it did not know the speed of the currents in the river but added they are so strong a ship with twin engines can be held still while going against them.

The spokesman said one person suggested that the currents were so strong that Mao might have covered the nine miles in 65 minutes by floating.

"This all may be true," the spokesman said. "But if he's a swimmer, we want him. If he's a floater, he better stay home."

Hogs Ticket Sale Best in History

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—The University of Arkansas reported Friday that its 1966 football ticket sales have been the greatest in the school's history.

"We are now completely sold out of all season books on both sides of War Memorial Stadium for the year," said Miss Vera Moody, ticket manager.

She said the only thing left for Razorback fans who haven't already bought their tickets is a seat in the end zone reserved section for the three Little Rock games.

"We hope that our fans will not be too disappointed," Miss Moody said. "But it is important that they have this information."

She said a large number of regular seat orders had already been returned unfilled with a request that the would-be ticket buyer apply for reserved end zone seats.

The three Little Rock games match Arkansas with Oklahoma State, Rice and Wichita State.

Tickets still are available for the three Fayetteville games, Miss Moody said, but most of them are near the goal line. A few tickets remain for the out-of-state games, including the Arkansas-Texas battle set for Austin, Tex., Oct. 15.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Not until six hours after he had tied for 17th place in the U.S. Open with a 294 total did Don January learn he became an automatic qualifier for the 1967 Open at Springfield, N.J.

January thought he had missed the exemption point but sports writers told him he qualified when they saw him in his hotel lobby.

The 15 lowest scorers and any tying for 15th place, excluding the last five Open champions, are exempt from local and sectional qualifying.

THE CAPE COD Canal is 540 feet wide and 32 feet deep.

6 Asphalt Firms Sued by State

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A lawsuit charging six asphalt companies with $3.5 million in overcharges in asphalt sales to Arkansas was authorized Thursday by the state Highway Commission.

The suit will be filed in a few days in state and federal courts, said Chairman Wayne Hampton of Stuttgart.

Hampton declined to name the firms involved.

Hampton said the commission will seek triple recovery and allied costs in the federal court action. Arkansas law provides only for recovery plus damages.

Repudiates Insurance on His Wife
By DON NORTH
SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — Dr. Carl Coppolino, indicted for first-degree murder in the death of his first wife and a neighbor, has divested himself of any interest in a $25,000 insurance policy on her life, it was learned today.
Coppolino, 34, whose arraignment was put off until Sept. 1 at his request Wednesday, had filed suit to collect the policy on his wife, Carmella, 32, who died last Aug. 28.
According to Sarasota County records, the insurance company, Professional Life and Casualty of Chicago, denied its liability for payment on the grounds that Mrs. Coppolino, who also was a doctor, died "of other than natural causes" and had "made false representations concerning the state of her health."
Coppolino, through an attorney, has arranged that any payment he might receive under the policy now go into a trust fund for his two daughters, Monica, 9, and Liza, 4. His present wife, Mary, has been named executrix of the trust fund.
Records show Mrs. Coppolino filed a petition two weeks ago to adopt the two girls by her husband's previous marriage.
Coppolino was scheduled for arraignment Wednesday, but asked for the delay so that his vacationing defense lawyer, James H. McEwen of Tampa, could be on hand for the arraignment.
Manuel Garcia, a Tampa attorney, spoke on Coppolino's behalf. The defendant sat at a table with his wife.
Coppolino, an anesthesiologist, faces an identical charge in New Jersey in connection with the death on July 30, 1963, of William E. Farber, a retired Army colonel whom the Coppolinos befriended as neighbors in Middletown Township.
Circuit Judge Lynn Silvertooth set the trial date tentatively as Nov. 1.
Florida has charged that Coppolino murdered his wife last Aug. 28 by administering a drug that was fatal but almost undetectable after death. The drug has not been named. Her death has been listed officially as a coronary occlusion.
Coppolino was indicted by a New Jersey grand jury after the body of Col. Farber was exhumed and it was discovered that he died of a broken neck rather than heart failure, as officially listed.
Coppolino is in the Sarasota County jail. The defense has not said if it will seek his release on bail.

Playwright Livings Laughter Has a Sting
By WILLIAM GLOVER
Associated Press Drama Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Henry Livings, one of England's unruly new dramatists, insists he doesn't really pen plays of protest.
"If you make a protest," runs his logic, "the audience can argue back at what you're saying — and in the process forget to pay attention to the play."
His special weapon to keep spectators' heads full of rowdy laughter — with a hidden sting. One London critic credits him with inventing "farce that draws blood;" another hails him as a "manic writer."
Somewhat oddly, his work is for the first time being seen this summer on this side of the Atlantic although he's been in the public eye back home since 1961.
"Eh?" the hero of which is an obnoxious boilerman, opened this summer at Cincinnati's Playhouse in the Park. "Big Soft Nellie," about a fatuous fall guy, went on at the Vancouver, B.C., Festival.
Both were originally done by the eminent Royal Shakespeare Company, but Broadway so far has made no bids — a circumstance which doesn't seem to bother the visiting author at all. On his first visit to this country, Livings has been busily soaking up impressions — which quite probably will emerge as another play. In the eight years since switching from plain acting to flamboyant scripting, he has completed 11 original dramas, adapted Hauptmann and Ibsen for BBC radio.
"I've always been interested in writing," the 37-year-old author affably begins a self-sketch. "Did a bit of poetry — once got paid six pounds for a poem." But he discovered there was even better pay at acting, so he quit the University of Liverpool where he was studying to be an expert on Spanish affairs.
In looks a kind of amiable cross between Gregory Peck and Albert Finney, Livings spent several lucrative years as a performer on TV, then 18 months with Joan Littlewood's theater workshop that figured prominently in England's drama upheaval.
"When I finally decided to get on with writing," says Livings, "I'd work at an acting job to get a bit of reserve, say 200 pounds ($260). Then I'd take 200-pounds worth of time to write."
His first effort, "Jack's Horrible Luck," took two years to sell to BBC television. In the meantime, "Stop It, Whoever You Are," was put on by an experimental stage group and stirred strong excitement.
"It caused a sensation, mostly because of its rudeness," Livings asserts. "The rudeness hadn't occurred to me at all. Getting all that attention reassured the television people, though, and I've been busy ever since."
At various times, Livings has been faulted for a headlong, funny formless style that leaves a stage strewn with unresolved circumstances at the final curtain.
"People accuse my plays of not having plot," says Livings, who once wrote a drama to prove he could. ("It sold like a shot.")
"If you are constantly worrying about what is going to happen next, you can't be very concerned about what is happening now. And that's wrong."
"I like to tell stories — backwards, which is the adult way." Of the offbeat characters about whom he writes, Livings asserts:

"I'm not interested in their nonconformity as such. What I want to do is to create an individual who will have an ambiguous relationship to the audience. Something like everyone's own family relations. You can't necessarily love them or hate them — they are there and you are close to them."
Livings, who is married and has two children, regards the underlying theme of his work as "the ability of man to survive." Human resilience fascinates him — "when there is every reason why events should defeat people, they emerge on the other side."
In working method, Livings describes himself as usually relaxed. "If I get worked up about a particular scene, I leave it because the whole thing comes out in a mad shorthand."
"So I say to myself, 'Go off and hug yourself somewhere else until you can write calmly enough for everyone else to join in the cheers.'"

Opening lead—♠ 10

We are repeating the hand of May 28 today. At that time we devoted so much space to a discussion of the bidding that we were unable to explain the play completely.

If West opens any suit except trump, the slam is a cinch but West should open a trump. South wins in his own hand and must lead a diamond at trick two. The correct diamond to lead is the seven spot. South wants to make it look as if he plans to go up with dummy's queen so that West will be sure to rise with the king if he holds that card.

West does not hold the king and will play low. South plays dummy's four and if East rises with the king, South's worries are over. He will be able to reach dummy with the queen of diamonds in order to discard his losing heart on the ace of clubs. If East has an inspiration and ducks, South can still make the hand. He must play a second round of trumps to leave one trump in dummy and one trump in the West hand. Then he plays ace and another diamond.

If West trumps he can do anything he wishes but South will get to dummy later by trumping a good diamond. If West does not trump, South will. In this case South will actually make a grand slam because he will be able to pick up West's last trump.

Now for an apology. When South leads the seven of diamonds at trick two West can play the jack. If he does this, there will be no way for South to make the hand. Several readers have seen this play. We overlooked it because it is the sort of play that would never be made at the table, at least almost never. If the hand were played a thousand times we guess that some West would actually play the jack on the seven.

Would you, if you weren't looking at all the cards?

Tries on W. R. Hat

Bobby Roper and Larry Don Wright help Martha Bader try on her Rockefeller-for-Governor hat at a meeting of Young Arkansans for Rockefeller at Republican Headquarters, East Third St.

Former Razorback Bobby Roper was the guest speaker. Roper, who was graduated from the University of Arkansas in June, played defensive end for the Razorbacks for two years. He was also selected for the All Southwest Conference team in 1964 and 1965.

Larry Don Wright, president of the local YAR group, was in charge of the business meeting. Discussed was the state YAR convention to be held August 27 at Winrock Farms.

YAR meetings are held on the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month. Anyone wishing to become a member should see any of the officers or Mr. and Mrs. Jim Pruden, sponsors.

28 Highway Jobs Let by Commission

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Twenty-eight highway improvement jobs in 20 counties were authorized Thursday by the Arkansas Highway Commission.

Agreements were reached with Army Engineers for the construction of a high level two-lane bridge at Morrilton and a high level four-lane bridge at Dardanelle.

A bridge and higher grade at Car Creek on U. S. 64 in Franklin County will be constructed under another agreement, the commission said.

The projects, by county, and estimated cost:

Arkansas—Widen and resurface 2.52 miles of Arkansas 1 from Arkansas 44 north, $28,500; grade and surface 4.1 miles of Arkansas 162 from Crum Bridge to Tipton Corner, $54,800.

ASHLEY—Resurface 9.3 miles of U. S. 82 from Crossett north and east, $116,700.

BENTON—Grade and surface 4.6 miles of Arkansas 102 from Arkansas 94 to U. S. 71, $89,600.

BRADLEY—Resurface 5.34 miles of Arkansas 4 from Warren to the Drew County line, $54,700; resurface 1.92 miles of Arkansas 15 from Arkansas 4 north, $20,400.

BRADLEY AND CLEVELAND—Replace 12 timber bridges with concrete slab spans on Arkansas 189 between Kingsland and Warren, $61,900.

CRAIGHEAD—Grade and surface 4.56 miles of Arkansas 139 from Arkansas 18 south, $94,000; construct three precast slab bridges and drainage structure on Arkansas 226 between the Jackson County line and Gibson Switch, $35,000.

DESHA—Widen a 176-foot bridge and construct two structures on Arkansas 208, from Halley east, $148,600.

DESHA AND CHICOT—Grade and surface 5.41 miles of Arkansas 208 from Halley to the Mississippi River levee, $190,200.

DREW—Replace eight timber bridges with precast concrete slabs on Arkansas 138 between Monticello and Arkansas 293, $40,400; construct resident engineer's office at Monticello area headquarters site, $15,000.

GRANT—Resurface 14.07 miles of U. S. 270 from railroad crossing at Poyen to Sheridan, $308,300; resurface 11.04 miles of U. S. 270 from Sheridan to the Jefferson County line, $235,300.

INDEPENDENCE—Grade and surface 5.79 miles of Arkansas 25 from Charlotte to Cord, $84,800.

IZARD—Grade and surface 7.2 miles of Arkansas 58 between tween Guion and Arkansas 69 and construct an 80-foot bridge, $108,100.

JEFFERSON—Resurface 3.02 miles of U. S. 65-79 in Pine Bluff, $37,100.

LAWRENCE—Grade and surface 3.99 miles of Arkansas 117 from Strawberry to Jessup, $60,000.

LONOKE—Grade and surface 4.05 miles of Arkansas 381 from U. S. 70 south, $73,100.

MISSISSIPPI—Construct and extend Arkansas 181 about one-third mile from Missouri line, subject to partial reimbursement by the state Highway Commission of $4,500.

PULASKI—Widening from 18 to 24 feet a 4.62-mile section of Arkansas 5 from Park Hill to Kellogg Road, $82,500.

SALINE—Resurface 7.17 miles of Arkansas 6 from Interstate 30 north to Pulaski County line, $59,500; resurface Arkansas 183 from Arkansas 35 at Benton to Interstate 30, $75,100.

UNION—Surface 2.20 miles of Arkansas 15 from Pidgeon Hill north to Moro Bay Ferry, $32,000; construct 15 corrugated metal arch pipe cross drains and one 38-foot precast slab bridge on Arkansas 335 from U. S. 82 to Arkansas 7, a distance of 7.12 miles, $14,400.

WOODRUFF—Construct three precast slab bridges on Arkansas 33, from Arkansas 38 north to Dixie, $9,000; grade and surface 4.7 miles of Arkansas 262 from McClelland north, $85,000.

Revenue Dept. Hits Fund Drive

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—State Revenue Commissioner Doris McCastlain said Thursday that some division heads in her department are soliciting their employees for political contributions.

Mrs. McCastlain said the action is being taken without official sanction.

"I told anyone who asked me that they handle the solicitations on their own on a voluntary basis," she said. "There is no official sanction by me of this activity. The employees don't earn enough to be subjected to pressure to contribute to any campaign."

She said some divisions heads asked about soliciting for Frank Holt and one asked about soliciting for Jim Johnson. Holt and Johnson face each other in the Aug. 9 Democratic gubernatorial runoff election.

Term's Source Mayday, an international radiotelephone signal word used as a distress signal, comes from the French word "m'aider" which means "help me."

Murphy to Aid Pryor in Run-Off

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP)—David Pryor of Camden, who led the ticket in Tuesday 4th District Democratic congressional primary, received a boost Thursday in his runoff campaign.

Dean Murphy of Texarkana, third in the five-man field, issued a statement from his campaign headquarters, saying:

"After closely examining the qualifications of the two candidates, I have decided without reservations that I will support David Pryor of Camden."

With one box still uncounted, Pryor had 41,737 votes to 24,905 for Richard Arnold of Texarkana.

Arnold and Pryor meet in the runoff Aug. 9 to see which Democrat will oppose Republican Lynn Lowe of Texarkana in the Nov. 8 general election. Murphy polled 20,169 votes, Charles Honey of Prescott 18,244 and John Harris Jones of Pine Bluff 12,035.

Murphy said he felt that Pryor "has a wealth of legislative experience, that he is a young man of high moral character with high religious convictions and that he has proven he is capable in all situations of expressing his own views in a forthright way."

Murphy added, "I know that he is an independent thinker and that he is not tied to any special interest group and desires only to represent all the people of the 4th Congressional District."

"I can and will actively support David Pryor because I know he will be fair to every person in the district regardless of their station in life," Murphy said.

Bethlehem Profit Up 2nd Quarter

NEW YORK (AP)—Bethlehem Steel Corp. today reported net income for the second quarter of 1966 rose to $54,520,000, or $1.18 a share on revenues of $719,299,000.

Net income for the comparable period of 1965 was $45,071,000, or 98 cents a share, on revenue of $713,104,000.

Bethlehem's board, meeting in Bethlehem, Pa., declared a regular dividend of 37½ cents a common share payable Sept. 10 to holders of record Aug. 11.

Net income for the six months ended June 30, 1966 was $91,202,000, or $1.98 a share, up from $89,203,000 or $1.94 a share in the same period of 1965. Revenues for the six months fell to $1,340,357,000 from $1,393,946,000 in the similar period of last year.

Accused of Car Theft for King

By BEN CHESTER ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—A federal jury considers evidence today against Harold Belton Andrews, who testified he had stolen four new cars in 1965 for an official of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.'s Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

U. S. Dist. Judge Sidney O. Smith first must charge the jury in the case of Andrews of Moultrie, Ga. After the jury retires to deliberate, the judge said he planned to begin the trial before another jury of a man indicted along with Andrews on federal charges of interstate transportation of a stolen vehicle, Morris Finley. Verdicts in both cases probably would be announced at the same time.

Andrews, in what Judge Smith called a "most unusual case," testified Wednesday that he obtained cars from rental agencies in Virginia, New Jersey, Florida and Atlanta under his own name. He said he then prepared phony bills of sale and registrations before turning the cars over to Finley, a printer who has done work for the SCLC, and a man known as Charles Mize.

In Chicago, the Rev. Andrew Young, executive director of the SCLC, said no one in the organization "would be so stupid as to be involved in the purchase of cars in which any question of legality existed."

Young said 50 to 60 cars were purchased for SCLC staff members at fleet rates.

"We later learned that two of the cars, purchased from Mr. Andrews, who we thought was a reputable used car dealer, were stolen," Young said. "Andrews charge that we knew they were stolen is ridiculous."

Andrews said one of the fake registrations was made out to Hosea Williams, an aide to King. He testified he had met with Williams once after police had picked up one of the stolen cars. He said Williams was angry and told him he was taking another stolen car to replace the one recovered by officers.

Williams was not available for comment on Andrews' statement.

The defendant said he had stolen the cars with the intention of gaining evidence for the FBI to seek indictments against SCLC officials. But he said two attorneys from the Department of Justice had refused to seek indictments against anyone except him and Finley. Both men are charged in connection with a rental car brought to Atlanta from Arlington, Va., in July 1965.

FBI Agent Johnny M. Dyer of Columbia, S.C., said Andrews came to him Oct. 18 with information on the stolen cars and signed statements concerning details, names and dates.

The FBI agent quoted Andrews as saying Finley wanted him to get new cars and "could sell all he could get through the SCLC." Dyer testified Andrews reported he had orders to look for a new Lincoln for King and that the SCLC was willing to pay about $1,500 for it.

Andrews said he had been paid a total of $1,800 for three of the cars and that he turned the fourth car over to the FBI in Columbia.

Sukarno Stages Lone Outburst

By T. JEFF WILLIAMS JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—Snarling, shouting and shoeless, President Sukarno asserted today that Indonesia's undeclared war against Malaysia would continue.

"Confrontation will continue," Sukarno declared in an hour-long address after he swore in a new Cabinet. "Malaysia as such is a neocolonialist project."

Sukarno, 65, now largely a figurehead, kicked off his shoes as he began his speech. His face reddening with anger, he alternately shouted and whispered at his audience. Lt. Gen. Suharto, the army strongman who forced Sukarno to give up his authority last March and who heads the new Cabinet, stood stony-faced as the president spoke. Suharto was promoted to full general at the ceremony.

After Suharto and the army took control last March, one of their first actions was to halt the three-year-old war with Malaysia and begin negotiations to establish normal relations. The moves were endorsed by the Indonesian Congress last month.

Sukarno tempered his defiance of the peace moves by saying confrontation could be ended only on the basis of the Manila agreement.

This accord, reached in the summer of 1963 by Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman of Malaysia, and then President Diosdado Macapagal of the Philippines and Sukarno, called for self-determination for the people of Sabah and Sarawak, the Malaysian states on the island of Borneo.

Court, Jury Use Up Trial Time Reading Book; Art or Dirt?

By B.F. KELLUM

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) For five days, eleven men and a woman stepped into the jury box each morning, opened a book and silently read.

The silver-haired judge also picked up a paperback novel. The books had such titles as: "Swap Set," "Orgy Cl," "Sin Summer," "Virgins, Inc.," "Temple of Shame," "Passion Carrousel" and "Shame Hungry."

There was no choice—the jurors read what was handed them.

The government contends the books are obscene. The defense claims they appeal to normal sexual interests.

Seven individuals and four firms are on trial in U.S. District Court, charged with interstate shipment of pornographic literature. If convicted, each defendant could get as much as two years in prison and or a $5,000 fine.

The jurors finished reading the final book late Thursday and court was recessed until Monday.

Not many stayed in the courtroom to watch the jurors silently reading. So one of the defense lawyers, Stanley Fleishman of Los Angeles, suggested that the novels be read aloud by a court-appointed reader.

He said the lack of spectators denied his clients the right to a public trial and made one of many unsuccessful defense motions for a mistrial.

Judge Joe Ingraham denied the motion and said: "This is not a Roman trial, but a trial by jury and the jury is present."

Fleishman also argued some jurors were fudging, that they were skip-reading because they did not wish to hold up the others with their slow reading.

The jurors were instructed to read all that was printed on the covers and flyleaves before starting the narrative. They could make no notes or underscore any passages.

Each of the books is about 200 pages long and the jury was able to read a little more than one book a day.

Most of the time the only persons in the courtroom besides the jurors were the seven defendants, four defense attorneys, four prosecutors, two FBI agents, the judge, his court reporter, clerk and law clerk.

Individual defendants are William L. Hamling, Palm Springs, Calif.; Richard A. Yerxa, San Diego, Calif.; Stephen A. Keegan, San Diego, Calif.; Donald M. Patrick, El Cajon, Calif.; Shirley R. Wright, La Mesa, Calif.; Howard E. Stephens, Sandusky, Ohio, and Walter H. Lonsdale, Gardena, Calif.

Defendant firms are Corinth Publications and Reed Enterprises, both of San Diego, Calif.; Stephens Printing Co., Sandusky, Ohio, and New-Cal Publications of Gardena, Calif.

Basore in Suit Over Balloting

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Joe Basore of Cherokee Village filed suit in Pulaski Chancery Court Thursday demanding a "proper count" in the lieutenant governor race in the county.

Basore, who apparently finished second in the eight-man field, said in the suit that some ballot boxes were delivered uncounted to the county Democratic Committee.

Chancellor Murray O. Reed set a hearing on the suit for 9:30 a.m. today to decide whether a temporary injunction should be issued until the suit can be tried on its merits.

The injunction, if issued, would prevent the committee from certifying the results at a meeting scheduled for 2 p.m. today.

Basore said the committee hired volunteers to make the count and that ballots should be counted by duly appointed election officials.

A committee spokesman said election officials walked off and left several boxes and that the committee had to send someone to get the boxes after Tuesday's election.

Volunteers were recruited to count the ballots.

The Privileged Class—Who Work for the Government

And a bag of oats under a mule's head you can lead him into a burning barn. But people are just as stupid as the proverbial mule.

Ever since World War II the people have been electing free-wheeling politicians to spend all the tax money and billions of indebtedness over and above taxes, on the futile idea that where so much is being squandered Uncle John and Auntie Mame will get a piece of it.

The cold voice of reason is ignored — that is to say, with a bag of oats in front of you who cares about the burning barn just ahead?

Slick-talking politicians tell the people about all the wonders that federal spending is going to produce. But what they don't tell the people is how this prodigal spending is steadily building up a privileged class in our once-democratic America.

The privileged class are those who work for the federal government. There is one law for the people, but an entirely different law for the federals. We are told to keep down salaries and wages and dividends, refrain from spending money on foreign trips, and practice thrift in general. But within the federal fraternity the word is passed: "Forget it — that's just eye-wash for the public."

Yesterday President Johnson signed into law a bill giving federal employees their fifth pay increase in four years. It amounted to $40 million dollars additional annual expense for a government that is already losing billions every year.

Private John Citizen is urged to forego a foreign trip, but the same president who passes out this advice sends his own daughter on a pleasure trip to Spain.

The disease that follows prodigal spending of debt money is called inflation, just as a hangover follows excessive drinking. Inflation exists when people begin to doubt the value of their paper money. Ordinary people have to work for money, and when tons of paper currency are dumped into the market against their work wages they have reason to be suspicious and afraid. They start selling government bonds and begin buying tangibles like real estate and diamonds.

If inflation isn't at hand, then why is it that the government has raised the salaries of its own workers five times in the last four years?

You are hurt in your own pay check by a corresponding rise in the price of everything you have to buy.

But you are just ordinary people. The privileged class are taken care of by the government every time they are hurt.

But you don't belong. And you'll never belong. That bag of oats is leading you right into the burning barn.

White Terror Gangs Maul Baltimore

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — State and city legal officers sought legal action on two fronts today to try to prevent a repeat of Thursday night's racial disturbances.

Gangs of white youths numbering from 50 to 100 ranged through Negro neighborhoods in search of victims after white supremacist speakers had whipped them into a frenzy.

Officials said today they would seek an immediate injunction against the National States' Rights party, which sponsored the rally, to forbid the group from holding more of them.

State's Atty. Charles E. Moylan Jr. said the Baltimore grand jury would be convened in special session today and he would seek indictments charging riot, inciting to riot and conspiracy to riot.

Thomas B. Finan, Maryland attorney general, said he would go to court seeking the injunction against the National States' Rights party and individuals he

Staid Old Boston Shaken by Series of Violent Crimes

By FRANK CREPEAU
BOSTON (AP) — Violent crime is rocking the Boston area where bandits with sub-machine guns knock off an armored truck in 15 seconds and gangland guns are averaging a murder a month.

"Anybody in the armored car business is a sitting duck when they come at you with machine guns," said Bromley Cook, manager of Armored Banking Service of Lynn.

The company's trucks have been held up twice in a series of four robberies of armored vehicles since Jan. 1. The heists have netted $327,000.

Last Tuesday noon, three masked men with submachine guns shot two guards outside a Veterans Administration hospital, sprayed the area with bullets and made off with $68,000. The guards were not hurt seriously.

Four days earlier, on July 22, four gunmen staged a 15-second holdup of a Brink's Inc. armored truck in Bedford, Mass., 15 miles north of Boston, and fled with $131,000. There was no shooting.

On March 4, six men took $58,000 from a Skelly Detective Service truck parked at a Brookline supermarket. And on May 26, four gunmen took $70,000 from an Armored Banking Service truck in Concord, adjoining Bedford.

None of the holdups has been solved.

This week's stickup brought the FBI into the picture because that robbery was on federal property.

Law enforcement authorities deny that metropolitan Boston is a particularly fertile field for armored truck robberies.

Bombing Is Heaviest of Asian War

By GEORGE MCARTHUR
SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — American pilots gave North Viet Nam its heaviest pounding of the war Thursday with more than 375 strike sorties against targets from the 17th Parallel to a missile site near Haiphong.

The cost was one Navy jet shot down by ground fire. The Reds fired only three of their Soviet-built surface-to-air missiles, and all missed, a U.S. military spokesman said.

Clearing weather and a heavy concentration of Navy planes and Marine aircraft which started flying bombing raids against North Viet Nam 10 days ago enabled the Americans to send up about 60 more sorties than had previously been flown in one day against the North. A sortie is one attack flight by one plane.

U.S. spokesmen do not reveal the number of sorties flown over the North. Instead they use the vague term "missions" which can mean any number of aircraft against any number of targets. The practice is designed to keep exact information from the Hanoi regime.

However, qualified sources said that the number of sorties Thursday was in excess of 375. The previous high was about 315 sorties flown July 15. The figure in recent weeks has averaged 250 to 300 daily.

The targets hit Thursday included a missile site only four miles from Haiphong, deep inside what pilots call the "missile envelope" around the vital Hanoi-Haiphong area.

But the number of SAM missiles sighted was surprisingly small.

There were no reported sightings of the Soviet-built MIGs which lately have shown increased willingness to do battle against the raiding Americans.

The targets included a rich haul of coastal craft, including an 80-foot barge and a 130-foot harbor tug which was blasted in coastal waters east of Haiphong. The "bomb damage reports" listed 13 petroleum supply dumps left blazing.

The U.S. command announced previously that an A4 Skyhawk and its pilot from the carrier Oriskany were missing on a raid Thursday near Vinh, 140 miles above the 17th Parallel. Another carrier-based Skyhawk went down near Vinh today, the spokesman said. No parachute was sighted and the pilot was listed as missing.

It was the 312th U.S. plane reported lost over North Viet Nam.

Alford to Aid Holt in the Run-Off

LITTLE ROCK (AP) Dale Alford endorsed Frank Holt Thursday night, becoming the first of five defeated gubernatorial candidates to indicate their choice for the Aug. 9 runoff election.

Alford issued a statement saying Holt "will make the best standard bearer in the election this fall."

Holt, the No. 2 man in Tuesday's primary, faces Jim Johnson in the runoff to see which Democrat faces Republican Winthrop Rockefeller in the Nov. 8 general election.

None of the other defeated candidates—Brooks Hays, Sam Boyce, Raymond Rebsamen and Kenneth Sulcer—has said whom they will support in the runoff.

Alford issued his statement through his campaign manager, state Sen. Joe Lee Anderson of Helena.

He said: "I have submitted by candidacy to the voters of Arkansas. I waged a hard campaign and naturally I am disappointed. However, I humbly abide with the voters' decision."

"I have now considered carefully my position with the thought of continuing the Democratic Party in power in this state. In my opinion, Frank Holt will make the best standard bearer in the election this fall, and I endorse his candidacy in the runoff primary."

Red Envoy Asks U.S. for Refuge

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — A Red Chinese diplomat attached to Peking's Embassy in Damascus has defected and asked the U.S. Embassy there for political asylum, diplomatic sources in the Syrian capital reported today.

The U.S. ambassador in Damascus, Hugh Smythe, reached by telephone from Beirut, declined comment and said all information would have to come from Washington.

A spokesman for the U.S. Embassy in Beirut denied knowledge of the incident but sources in the embassies here and in Damascus indicated the reports were correct.

The conservative Beirut paper Al Hayat reported the defection in a brief story this morning.

Man's Memory Is Greatest Artist of Them All: Boyle

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Memory is the greatest artist.

It doesn't need words like Shakespeare's or brushes like Rembrandt's.

On the silent canvas of the soul, memory paints over and over again the loveliness of lost landscapes, the beauty of vanished faces, the yearnings of yesterday that we thought we had put behind us forever.

You've got quite an art gallery of the past in your own head if you can look back and remember when—

Electricity was so dumb it hadn't learned how to milk cows, cool a room, or work a toothbrush.

Lovers weren't afraid to sit and hold hands in a public park after dark.

Mountain moonshine sold for 50 cents for a full fruit jar.

You knew summer had arrived when every kid took off his long black cotton stockings and started going barefoot in faded blue overalls.

Your heart broke the day they sold the last neighborhood fire horses to a farmer and replaced them with a big, red, engine-driven pumper.

You had to be careful going by the local saloon so as not to be knocked over by one of its swinging doors.

For a quarter you could lug home as big a watermelon as you could carry. And the grocer always cut a small triangular

The Revenue office will be open from 8 a.m. until 4 p.m. Saturday. This is the last day truck license can be purchased without paying a $3 penalty.

Spy Plane Flies Alone, Pilot 'Out'

PANAMA (AP) — Five American astronaut-recovery planes were alerted for a dawn takeoff today to search for a high-flying U2 reconnaissance plane that apparently flew with its pilot unconscious on a straight-line course from Florida until it crashed somewhere south of Panama.

The plane, with Capt. Robert D. Hickman, 32, of Alexandria, La., at the controls, took off Thursday morning from Barksdale (La.) Air Force Base on what a spokesman said was "a routine mission."

It was estimated that the plane's fuel was exhausted by midafternoon.

The last radio contact with the pilot was while he was on a southerly course off the coast of Florida. He was supposed to turn east or west between Sarasota and Key West but did not.

"The assumption is that the pilot lost consciousness, possibly due to anoxia, lack of oxygen," The Pentagon said. The statement added that the aircraft was "under apparent control of the automatic pilot."

A Defense Department spokesman said the last radar contact with the plane was over Panama. U.S. military sources in Panama said efforts to raise Hickman by radio were fruitless.

The air rescue center at Albrook Air Force Base in the Canal Zone organized search operations from Panama south to the Peru-Chile border.

Five planes equipped with special gear for astronaut recovery operations were ordered to the Canal Zone from Kindley Air Force Base in Bermuda and Homestead Air Force Base in Florida.

A U.S. Embassy spokesman in Lima said it was "pretty far-fetched" to expect that the plane got as far as Peru.

"There is simply a possibility that with the available fuel it could have gone as far as Peru or anywhere along that radius," he said.

Thoughtful people realized we had lost our last link with the American past when corner restaurants started charging a dime for a cup of coffee. Even if they got a second cup free they knew things would never really be quite the same again in their lifetime.

LBJ Takes Hand in the Air Strike

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson took over the airline strike negotiations today and told both sides he wants them to reach agreement through collective bargaining.

After a White House meeting with Johnson, 11 men from the management side and 11 from the union side marched across the street to the executive office building and went into session once more.

White House press secretary Bill D. Moyers said Johnson set no deadline for action.

"He said," Moyers reported, "that collective bargaining is the free, democratic way of settling the differences you have this morning, that 'that's a better way than legislating the breaking of a strike, or seizure, or presidential fiat.'"

Moyers, talking with newsmen after sitting in on the original session in the Cabinet room, said Johnson feels that continued, prolonged negotiations now are no more likely to bring about a settlement than intensified, concentrated bargaining.

It appears, Moyers said, that the differences between labor and management have been narrowed to something less than $25 million. He said the companies have been offering about $60 million above present pay and benefit standards and the unions have come down on their demands to $80 million or a bit more.

Moving in on the negotiations with an after-midnight summons calling the parties to the White House, Johnson beat Congress to the punch on an effort to dump the dispute into his lap.

At the Capitol, the Senate Labor Committee went into unusually early session to round out a measure of its own aimed at ending the strike.

Truce for 'Teen-Age' Violence

CHICAGO (AP) — A teen-age gang has agreed to try and reinforce a shaky truce with a rival group after a week of violence in which two youths were killed and 12 persons wounded.

A spokesman at the church said the gang members listened attentively and agreed with the workers during the 45-minute meeting.

Leaders of the two gangs—which claim 2,000 members each—met with Police Supt. O.W. Wilson July 21. Wilson later told newsmen the gangs had declared a truce after seven years of fighting.

The leaders said they wanted to improve their image and work on the side of the law.

Several hours later, the pact was weakened when members of another gang, an offshoot of the Disciples called the Englewood Disciples, shot and wounded six Disciples, police said.

Police cleared the East Side Disciples and Rangers and said the third gang was out to embarrass them.

The battling reached a climax this week when two 15-year-old youths were shot and killed, William Cannon, 17, who said he was a member of another gang, the Del Vikings, was charged with murder.

Sixteen-agers, including a 16-year-old girl, were shot and wounded Wednesday night, none seriously. Three youths were arrested and eight were sought.

Lt. William Griffin, a police commander who talked the gang leaders into considering the truce, blamed the outbreak on dissident members of the East Side Disciples "who refused to go along with their leaders in the peace truce with the Rangers."

Juvenile officers and YMCA workers met Thursday night with 400 members of the East Side Disciples in a Roman Catholic church and urged the youths to try and curb the violence which police described as the worst in years.
